Biofuels' Logistics Challenges and Solutions

Jerry Morehart is currently serving as Commercial Development Manager, Supply, Distribution, and Planning, Marathon Petroleum Company LLC. His duties have been nearly exclusively devoted to biofuels for the past two and a half years. Responsibilities include assessing the short and long term biofuels markets and making strategic recommendations on how Marathon should participate.

This includes the purchasing strategy for ethanol. Prior to this assignment, he was Products Environmental Compliance Coordinator focusing on the environmental compliance issues surrounding fuels. This included infrastructure development projects for SD&P having a cross organizational focus, including the commercial justification for investments in terminal infrastructure to support increased ethanol blending.

Jerry joined Marathon Oil Company in 1980, and has also served in various roles in Marketing & Transportation Engineering and Internal Control Auditing.
