

Ethanol Logistics: State Perspectives

Dr. Kusumal Ruamsook, Penn State University

Dr. Dawn Russell, Penn State University

Greg Christian, Parsons Brinkerhoff

---

Kusumal Ruamsook is a Visiting Scholar in the Center for Supply Chain Research (CSCR), and the Pennsylvania Transportation Institute (PTI) at Pennsylvania State University.

In this position, Kusumal is responsible for supporting the CSCR, PTI, and the Supply Chain and Information Systems (SC & IS) department, Smeal College of Business, efforts in advancing research initiatives in the logistics and supply chain management discipline. Other areas of research interests are international logistics and supply chain management, and supply chain perspective of alternative energy sources.

Kusumal holds a B.B.A. with marketing emphasis from Prince of Songkla University, Thailand; an M.B.A. from the University of Missouri - Columbia; and Ph.D. in supply chain and information systems from Smeal College of Business at Pennsylvania State University.

Dr. Dawn Russell is an Assistant Professor of Supply Chain Management and Information Systems at Pennsylvania State University. Dawn has been working both academically and practically in the areas of supply chain management, information systems integration, logistics, and transportation for 18 years. She spent five years in aircraft industry supply chain management, working with GE Aircraft Engines and Lockheed Martin Aero & Naval Systems, two years in supply chain consulting, and the past 11 years working with companies on supply chain management problems from a research and executive education perspective, and teaching undergraduate and graduate courses in supply chain management.

Dr. Russell has published academic journals including Journal of Business Logistics, Transportation Journal, International Journal of Logistics Management, International Journal of Physical Distribution and Logistics Management, and Journal of Supply Chain Management. She completed her Ph.D. in Transportation Engineering at Northwestern University and is an Eno Transportation Fellow. She has also earned an M.B.A. from Ohio State University and a B.A. in Materials and Logistics Management from Michigan State University.

Dr. Russell has served as a speaker at the annual Council of Supply Chain Management Professionals (CSCMP) conference, quarterly meetings of the Voluntary Interindustry Commerce Solutions (VICS) Association, Retail Industry Logistics Association (RILA), LOGICON, meetings of Penn State's Center for Supply Chain Research, and several other professional organizations.